Get to Know Your Downtown: Culturefest 2010

June is just around the corner and soon the signs of summer will be all around. By the end of this month, new flower baskets and colorful banners will adorn the historic downtown district, just in time for Culturefest 2010. This year Culturefest will be on June 5th; there will be many activities on hand for the entire family and best of all, this event is FREE to the public.

When downtown, stop in and visit our downtown merchants and restaurants for a memorable experience. The downtown district has been the identity of Brighton since its inception in 1887. There are a number of new businesses and restaurants in downtown and many will have special offers on the day of Culturefest.

Coming soon, The Armory Card!
